50th ANNIVERSARY
This year is the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Eltham Wine Guild. Also, this year we will be running our 50th Wine Show. These are anniversaries we should all be proud of, not many community organisations can claim to have been around for, and survived, 50 years! The Committee has given the matter some thought and decided that our anniversary will be formally celebrated at the International Night currently pencilled in for Saturday the 18th May. If you have any ideas regarding how we can make this a very special occasion, please let a member of the Committee know. With the Wine Show, the thinking at the moment is that our medal certificates will have special 50th anniversary badging. Again, please share with us any thoughts you may have on what we can do differently. By the way, did you know that Graham Scott is a foundation member of the Guild? We are lucky to have him around and still actively contributing through his participation in the Committee. Well done and thanks Graham!

GUILD PRESENTATIONS
In the last couple of years, the Guild has given winemaking presentations at Rowville, Diamond Valley and Knox Libraries. We have also delivered presentations at special events in Kinglake and Darebin. These presentations are an excellent way of promoting the craft of amateur winemaking and increasing the profile of the Guild in the community. So far this year we have been invited to participate in the Darebin Homemade Food and Wine Festival however we are always on the lookout for more opportunities to present. Can all members please keep this at the back of their minds and if the opportunity presents itself, mention that we are available. The opportunity may be at your local library or to another community group you belong to. Our presentations usually go for about an hour and a half and discuss how to make raspberry wine.

RED HILL SHOW – MEAD COMPETITION
Please support Wayne Hewitt (country wine judge at our show) with his effort to introduce a mead category in the Red Hill Agricultural Show. I received the following email from Wayne after advising him that the entry forms were a bit hard to find. Note that entries are due on 28 February 2019. Refer also to flyer later in newsletter.

Hi Mario

The mead competition is not the main focus of the show, but I am trying to elevate it to the same status as the advertised cider show. They are trying to push a beer show as well. But it is an agricultural show, so horses and cows come first.

You enter the mead section by registering your name on the Showday website (that’s the software they are using)
To do this, go to https://www.redhillshow.com.au , and click on the Forms & Schedules Tab at the top.
Then click on “Enter Here 2019 Show”
This takes you to the Showday entry form.
The mead section is on the right hand side, with the honey.
You have to put in your email to register along with a password..... then select which class and follow the prompts.
It’s a bit clunky, but we are starting very small.
Give me ring if you have trouble.
Thanks for your interest.
Wayne
Sorry, forgot to add
Entry is only 1 bottle. Glass or can.
I can pick up entries from a central point if a few of your members enter.

WEBSITE MANAGER REQUIRED
The Guild website needs a major overhaul, it has not been refreshed for about four years. We need someone who can decide what the layout of the pages should be, how the content should look and be able to write sensible content and prepare it into pages. This is a marketing role and you do not need to have IT skills to upload the information prepared, this can be done by others if necessary. You will not be on your own and will be working in close collaboration with the Committee. If you think you can take on the role, please contact Mario Anders.
GUILD WINE GRAPES GROUP BUY
The Guild this year has arranged the purchase of 1.5t of the following varieties of grapes for members: Aglianico, Malbec, Refosco and Lagrein. Obviously, these are unusual ‘cutting edge’ varieties and it will be interesting and exciting to see what wines eventuate. A big thank you to Danny Cappellani for organising the purchase. Unfortunately, Danny is unable to take any more orders this year.

SAMEPAGE
Our Guild social media chat forum Samepage is proving to be a great means of rapid informal communication between members about winemaking. If you are not connected, you are missing out. If you have not received an invitation to join or you have ignored previous invitations to join and would now like to get on board, please contact Mario Anders.

CRUSHER DESTEMMER
Just a reminder to all members that the Guild has a crusher destemmer that you can hire for a nominal fee. To make a booking please contact Geoff Neagle 0407 176 347.

NEXT MONTHLY GUILD NIGHT – FRIDAY 22 FEBRUARY
Our Guild Night in February is when we invite people who have entered our wine show as well as members to come along and hear a presentation from our Chief Wine Judge. Loïc Le Calvez will discuss how to avoid faulty wines, answer questions and be available to taste wines people bring in. I would like all members to get behind this event and, as well as coming along yourselves, tell your winemaking friends about it and get them to come along as well. We are very fortunate to have Loïc giving this presentation, he is a highly regarded professional winemaker and a great communicator. As always, members are encouraged to bring along any wine to Guild Nights that they would like discussed or have some feedback on. It will be a great night, I look forward to seeing you.

Cheers

Battonage

There has been a few Samepage messages going around the past few days as to when and whether to “Lees stir” during maturation and what benefits this provides to a wine.

There are some good information in the web provided on the subject but in general, “Battonage” or “Bâtonnage” is a French word for stirring the lees in wine during maturation and is mainly utilised during the making of Chardonnay wines matured in oak.

You can also buy Bâtonnage wines made locally from Bremerton.
HUMOUR

“I’ve often been asked, ‘What do you old folks do now that you’re retired?’ Well...I’m fortunate to have a chemical engineering background and one of the things I enjoy most is converting beer, wine and vodka into urine. I do it every day and I really enjoy it.”

As a kid I used to watch The Wizard of Oz and wonder how someone could talk if they didn’t have a brain. Then I got a Facebook.

A whole bunch of potential: the possible benefits of whole bunch fermentation

Anthony Fikkers, proprietor and winemaker of small Yarra Valley wine producer Fikkers Wines, won the inaugural travel scholarship at the 2017 Victorian Wine Show which he used to investigate the use of whole bunch fermentation in Burgundy, Beaujolais and the Rhone Valley in France. The aim of the scholarship is for the recipient to gather information that could benefit the Victorian wine industry, but his observations are of interest to the broader Australian wine industry.

In 2017 I won the Victorian Wine Show’s inaugural travel scholarship. I opted to use the scholarship to investigate whole bunch fermentation in red wines. In June 2018, I flew to France to explore regions that have a long history of whole bunch fermentation. I visited producers in Burgundy, Beaujolais and the Rhone Valley — regions that grow varieties that are relevant to the Victorian wine industry, like Pinot Noir, Gamay and Shiraz. I met with producers who use varying levels of whole bunch in their ferments to discuss why they do this, how they choose suitable parcels of fruit and the methods they implement to get the best results. ……….(Read more)

Industry fortunes heating up in southeast Tasmania

Mark Smith caught up with Gourmet Traveller Wine’s 2018 Viticulturist of the Year, Fred Peacock.

With the sun on his back, Bream Creek’s Fred Peacock moves steadily between narrow rows of sprawling Pinot Noir, wrenching away unruly canes and tucking others between foliage wires on his 7.5 hectare site overlooking Marion Bay in southeast Tasmania.

To the casual observer, it is mindless, repetitive work; the unromantic side of the island’s cool climate viticulture.

“Owning a vineyard always sounds so idyllic,” Peacock muses. “The reality is it’s a helluva lot of work.”

Peacock speaks with the voice of experience. He’s been traversing Tasmanian landscapes for more than four decades now. Even so, the daily schedule he sets himself is every bit as demanding as it was when he first stepped onto a vineyard in 1974. Indeed, Peacock now owns or manages 30ha of vines in three industry subregions — the East Coast, Coal River Valley and Derwent Valley. ……….(Read more)
